5,000 Expected Back For 36th Homecoming

ON THE ROOF of the Phi Delta Theta house, more busy workers prepare their decorations for the Homecoming house contest, which will be judged at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Jim Zak, Larry Earls, and Tom Wolpert construct the frame for the Phi Delta entry.

Approximately 5,000 alumni are expected to attend the University's thirty-sixth annual Homecoming celebration, said Kenneth Krouse, director of the Alumni Affairs. Events will get underway this evening with a pep rally and noise parade and will be concluded with Homecoming Dance tomorrow night.

House decorations and orange and brown streamers decorating the downtown shopping area, the main campus, and the Stadium, will greet the visitors Saturday morning as the Homecoming activities shift into high gear.

There is no set theme for this year's house decorations, which will be judged on appropriateness to the occasion, originality, and workmanship, said F. E. Beatty, chairman of the Homecoming Activities. Judging will be at 10 a.m. Saturday by an anonymous committee chosen from the board of directors of the Alumni Association. Winners will be announced during intermission at the dance. Two committees will judge the decorations—one for the men's and one for the women's residences.

Alumni Room Busy

With the thousands of former students expected to return to the campus, the Alumni Room of the University Union will be a very busy place. Since many of the alumni have never seen the Union, many of the Homecoming activities will be held there. In place of the tent used last Homecoming, the Alumni Room will provide a meeting place for the alumni.

The room will be open Friday and Saturday nights as a lounge for informal visits. An alumni official will be on hand to provide information about the week-end events.

Buffet Luncheon

Tomorrow morning, alumni may register in the Alumni Room for the baby-sitting service to be provided for their children from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. by Omega Phi Alpha, women's service organization, and the Bowling Green High School Tri-Hi-Y, under the supervision of Judi Smith. Facilities to care for the children will be set up in the Nursery School and the Men's Gym.

Baby-sitting Service

Approximately 500 alumni are expected to attend the buffet luncheon in the Grand Ballroom from 11:30 to 12:30 tomorrow. The Alumni Open House will be held in the Ballroom both before and after the game. There will be coffee, departmental open houses, and door prizes.

Coffee will be sold in the Alumni Room during the dance tomorrow night for tired alumni and their guests.

Pep Rally Tonight

Tonight, a mass noise parade and pep rally will stir up spirit for the game tomorrow. Sororities, fraternities, and residence halls have been paired for the event and will sponsor wagons with banners, some floats, and much noise. The parade will assemble at 6:30 p.m. in front of the Union and will proceed around Sorority Row, down Thurston Ave. to Founders Quadrangle, then on to Fraternity Row and end at the practice football field behind the Fine Arts Bldg.

A huge bonfire will be built and a program will follow. The football team, the new Freddy Falcon, the varsity cheerleaders are to be introduced by "Those Two," Thelma Madden and Ron O'Leary, who will act as MC's for the occasion.

Tomorrow at 9 a.m., Cap and Gown, women's leadership honorary, will sponsor its annual Alumni Breakfast in the Pink Dogwood Room of the University Union. Approximately 35 former Cap and Gown members will be present. Virginia Weadock, president, is in charge of the affair.

Pre-Game Festivities

Pre-game activities will begin at 1:40 p.m. tomorrow, highlighted by an aerial salute. The Army and Air Force ROTC color guards will lead the procession into the stadium, followed by a brief exhibition by the Kent State marching band and the Bowling Green band. The queen and her court, kept secret until this moment, will arrive in foreign sports cars. The queen will be crowned in mid-field by Norman Nunamaker, president of the student body, then escorted to her box and the game will begin.

Queen Escort

Escorting the queen will be Donald Katz, president of the senior class; the senior attendant will be escorted by Lewis Moorhead, vice-president of the student body; junior attendant by Dan Glynn, president of the junior class; sophomore attendant by Edwin Shirkey, president of the sophomore class; and the freshman attendant will be escorted by Robert Greenberg, vice-president of Omicron Delta Kappa.

The national anthem, played by both bands and led by Warren Allen, music department, will precede the game.

The University marching band, under the direction of Prof. Roy Weger, will play a prominent part in the pre-game festivities. After a salute to the visitors from Kent State University, the band will form a lane for the presentation of the 1958 Homecoming Queen and her attendants. The winners of the house decoration contest will be announced also.

Halftime Show

At halftime, the band will take everyone on a "Tour of the Union" to the tune "It's the Talk of the Town." It will portray the Falcons Nest where it will form the traditional coffee cup and play to the music "Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee." The band will then break up into two cups and play "The Best Things in Life Are Free."

The next formation will salute the Carnation Room with "Dancing in the Dark," and "The Type-writer Song" will depict the many offices located in the Union. An inkwell and quill pen will describe the Browning Room as "I'm Going to Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter" is played.

"There's a Small Hotel" will picture the Union's fourth floor, and the band will next form a bowling ball and a pin to the song "Happy Days Are Here Again." The final formation will find a concert band playing in the Grand Ballroom to a portion of "Symphonic Suite for Bands."

The Kent State University marching band also will perform to complete the 20-minute halftime show.

Annual Dance

Saturday evening, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., the annual Homecoming dance will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the University Union. Music will be by the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra starring Warren Covington. Intermission will feature presentation of the queen and her court and the awarding of trophies to the winners in the house decoration contest.

The dance is being planned by the members of the sophomore class headed by its president Ed Shirkey. Chaperons are: Dr. and Mrs. Vergil Ort and Prof. and Mrs. Roland Torgerson. Committee heads are: Jack Granfield and Carleen Andestad, decorations; Jim Fluke and Dale Ford, publicity and promotion; and Karen Wright and Sue Rinehart, host and hostesses.

The Carnation Room in the Union will be open tonight and tomorrow night from 9 to 12 for all students, faculty, and alumni. Music will be by the Jack Charles Quartet and the floor show will feature Mike Parker, a member of the class of '62.

Open Houses

Departments planning open houses during the week end include: biology, business administration, business education, chemistry, economics, education, English, geology, health and physical education, history, home economics, industrial arts, journalism, music, philosophy, physics, political science, sociology, speech, accounting, air science, and art.

ALPHA CHI OMEGAS work industriously on their decorations for the annual house decoration contest to be held as part of the Homecoming festivities. Turning their front porch into a workshop are: row 1. Ruthanne Hobson, Chris Perna and Maria Mercey; row 2. Jan Bauer and Anita Shaw.

Lutheran Center Dedication Set For Week End

Formal dedication services will be held Sunday afternoon for the new Lutheran Student Center-Missouri Synod. The Center is located at 716 E. Wooster St., across from Founders Quadrangle, and will be the headquarters for Gamma Delta and other activities of Lutheran students.

At 2:30 p.m., a service will begin in Front Chapel, with Dr. R. W. Hahn as the main speaker. Dr. Hahn is the executive secretary of the Missouri Synod's Commission on College and University Work.

Following this service, the persons attending will form a procession and go to the Center for the dedication service, according to Vicar Larry Brelje, present student pastor assigned to Bowling Green by the Synod.

All students, alumni, parents, and University staff members are invited to attend both services, the vicar said.

The house was bought this fall, said the Rev. Mr. Brelje, and the dedication service was planned for this week end because a number of parents and alumni will be on campus. Remodeling of the house has been started, he said, but not completed.

It was largely through the work of Vicar George Aurich, who was the first full-time student pastor assigned here by the Synod in 1957, that funds were raised to buy the building, said the present student pastor. Funds for the purchase were also provided by the Synod through contributions from church members in its area.

TO BE DEDICATED Sunday is the recently purchased Lutheran Student Center opposite Founders Quadrangle on Wooster St. Presently being remodeled, the building will be the headquarters for all Lutheran student activities on campus.

Train Or Bus? Answer Tonight

A decision will be made tonight as to whether or not the train will be taken to Miami University for the Mass Migration, as originally planned, according to Miss Sarah Banks, assistant to the dean of students.

This statement was prompted by the fact that many students are in the process of forming car pools for the trip. This in itself is not discouraging because the prime purpose of the migration is to assure a large representation from Bowling Green at the game, "which I am sure we will have," added Miss Banks.

Should a decision be made to discontinue the train, busses will be scheduled to transport those students who have already purchased tickets. Announcement of final plans will be released in the next issue of the NEWS.

Meanwhile, the round-trip train ticket and ticket to the game, costing $11.60, will remain on sale at the windows of the old Business Office on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. and at Carr's News Stand in town.

Coffee Hour Given For Head Residents

An informal coffee hour for head residents of the dormitories and Greek houses was given by the Association of Women Students Thursday.

Chairman for the coffee hour, Sue Rautine, was assisted by Marilyn Fox, head of the decorations committee, and Carol Spitzer, chairman of arrangements.

Freddy Falcon For '59 Makes Debut Tonight

Freddy Falcon will make his '59 debut tonight at the pep rally. This fellow, the official mascot of the Falcons, has not done much in the past several years to create spirit and enthusiasm at football and basketball games, said Miss Sara Banks, assistant to the dean of student affairs, but this will not be the case this year.

Last year, it was felt by the Student Spirit and Traditions Board that Freddy was definitely needed at the athletic contests, Miss Banks explained. So, a subcommittee was appointed to conduct the search for a male student willing and able to take over Freddy's duties. Elizabeth Roof was chairman of the Freddy Falcon Subcommittee, but her committee's efforts were unsuccessful until this fall.

Recently, Gary Bloomfield, a freshman health and physical education major, was named Freddy Falcon by the Traditions Board and Miss Roof. In high school, Bloomfield was active on the tumbling team which gave programs in the community and for half-time at basketball games.

Following his appearance at the pep rally, he will work with the Homecoming game tomorrow. Freddy will also have a portable trampoline to perform upon during football games.

Roger Minkoff, also a freshman, has been selected as the alternate Freddy Falcon. Minkoff was also active in tumbling in high school, being the captain of the tumbling team, and was also captain of the swimming team.

The last official Freddy Falcon, according to Miss Banks, was Fred Frisby. The mascot was originated and first sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, men's service organization, in 1951. Hugh Simmons carried out Freddy's part during the basketball season that year.

Hugh was followed by Ray Bertelsen for the football and basketball seasons of the 1952 school year, and following him was Frisby.

Key To Extend Photo Deadline

Seniors and faculty members who have not been photographed for the 1959 KEY, will have another opportunity next week.

A photographer from Olan Mills studio will be on campus next Thursday and Friday in the old KEY office in the basement of the Education Bldg. Hours will be from 9 a.m. until noon, and 1 to 6 p.m.

Proofs of pictures taken three weeks ago will also be available for the 80 seniors and faculty members who have not selected a picture to appear in the yearbook.

Twelve Cases Heard By Student Justices; Parking Rules Upheld

At the weekly session of the Student Court, 12 cases were heard.

James C. Cordiak was charged with rule four of University regulations which means that disobeying any state or city regulation is the same as disobeying a University rule. He was charged in Bowling Green Mayor's Court with reckless operation where he forfeited a $15 bond. In accordance with rule four, his car was suspended for one week for his first offense.

Georgia Schultdt was charged with failure to properly register her car. But because of extenuating circumstances, she was fined $25 with $1 suspended. The court also stipulated that she could not have a car here for the rest of the semester.

LeRoy Banks was charged with his first offense of improper parking and with two counts of non-registration. Since the two counts were for the same offense, they were considered as one. He was fined $25 for non-registration and one dollar for the parking offense.

Phil Skapura was charged with his first offense of improper parking and non-registration. He was fined $25 with $10 suspended. He was told by the court that he had to register his car the first time that he brings it on campus.

Ed Hill, operator of the car owned by John Garner, was found not guilty of first offense of improper parking. Chief Justice Cromer Smith warned all owners that any violations incurred by anybody else driving would go on the owner's record.

Roger Smith, William Reichardt, Ben Gill, Ralph Lawrence, and John Zitkov were all found guilty of their first offense of improper parking and were fined $1 each.

Barry Walsh was found not guilty in absence of his first parking offense.

Harvey Ohman was found guilty of his first and second offenses of improper parking and was charged $4 and had the use of his car suspended for one week.

Editorially Speaking

It's Still "Home"

We of the B-G NEWS staff wish to extend a hearty "welcome back" to the hundreds of alumni returning to the University this week end.

For many of the alumni, returning to the present campus, with its new buildings and landscaping, will not seem to be a "homecoming"—the Bowling Green that they knew, with its log cabin Falcon's Nest and the streets and circle in front of the Administration Building, has disappeared. We know that the University has grown to such an extent that it may not be "home" to numerous persons who once were students here.

There is a reason for this growth, however. Like any home, the University has had to expand as its family grew, and as it grew, remodeling was done. Existing facilities were bettered and some entirely new ones were brought into operation. This is done by any household as times change and its status in the community becomes higher.

But these changes are only on the surface, and should be unimportant to the alumni because one wonderful thing about Bowling Green has not changed. This is the warm feeling with which the returning persons are welcomed each year by the administration, the faculty, and the students. This is changeless, and it is this that still makes Bowling Green "home," and thus makes our Homecoming such a wonderful experience year after year.

Letter To Editor

To the Editor:

On behalf of the students of Miami University, we would like to welcome the Bowling Green University team and student body to the annual Homecoming celebration of Miami University on Nov. 1.

We are proud to have the privilege of playing host to Bowling Green on this occasion, and we are hoping that many of your students will be able to "migrate" to Oxford for the game. We are eager to have a friendly spirit between our two universities, and we know that good sportsmanship will prevail.

The 1958 Homecoming Committee has planned a colorful and festive week end. We hope your team and students will enjoy participating in the celebration.

To the Editor:

Reading the October 17 edition of the B-G NEWS, it was a pleasant surprise to hear about the Miami migration. To me, this migration meant the real return of strong student spirit to the BG campus.

When I enrolled in the University in 1954, the one thing that impressed me least was the one thing that I had heard the most about—spirit.

Before coming to BG, I could remember the high spirit on the campus in the late 40's—primarily due to the fine Falcon postwar basketball teams. It was in the Men's Gym and Madison Square Garden where the famous chant of "Let's Go, Bowling Green" was born.

I was soon to learn that a student could be proud of his or her university; but to me there was a difference between pride and spirit. Spirit is outwardly shown and there is no better way of triggering such spirit than by having a fine athletic team or teams, supported by an enthusiastic student body.

Even though Bowling Green had a fine basketball team in 1954, but not a great one, I watched student spirit go down hill.

In 1956, Doyt Perry was brought to the campus. His purpose for coming was to build a football team. He came well grounded in the fundamentals of football and with the theory that if you can teach a boy to play the game well and put everything he has got into it, he is bound to win. I think he accomplished two goals. He built one of the finest small college football powers in the nation; but more important, by producing winning football teams, spirit returned to the campus.

It proves that you can establish all the student spirit committees you want; but it takes something to ignite spirit. Football and Coach Perry did it.

So when the students head for Miami on Nov. 1, maybe some will stop and think why spirit has reached an all-time high at Bowling Green.

Member Of Faculty Has Article Published

Dr. Morris Golden, instructor in English, has recently had an article, "The Family—Wanderer Theme in Goldsmith," published in "A Journal of English Literary History."

Cello, Piano, Violin Blend Sunday For Musical Trio's First Concert

A new University trio-in-residence, the Pro Musica Trio, will present its first concert at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the Recital auditorium of the Hall of Music. The public is invited.

The program will include two major works for trio—Beethoven's "Trio in B-flat Major, Opus 97," and Mendelssohn's "Trio in D Minor, Opus 49."

The Pro Musica Trio includes three members of the music faculty—Seymour Benstock, cello; Robert Chapman, piano; and Paul Makara, violin.

Benstock, director of the University Symphony Orchestra, is solo cellist and assistant conductor of the Toledo Symphony Orchestra. He holds the Master of Music degree in conducting and chamber music from the Royal Scottish Academy, Glasgow, Scotland, in addition to the Bachelor of Music and Master degrees from Hart College, Hartford, Conn., where he taught for four years.

Chapman holds the Bachelor of Music and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Iowa where he served as a member of the music faculty. He has been heard extensively throughout the mid-west as recitalist, and is much in demand as a piano accompanist.

Makara, new to the faculty this year, is the newly-appointed concertmaster for the Toledo Symphony. He holds the Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y. His experience includes the U.S. Marine Band, the Lake Placid Sinfonietta, and assistant concertmaster of the Rochester Civic Orchestra.

The Pro Musica Trio has scheduled other performances at the University on March 8 and April 17.

Station Features Alum Interviews

Ed Phillips, guard on the Falcon football team, will be interviewed at 6:30 tonight on WBGU, the University's radio station. This is the first in a series of interviews on "Sports Spotlight" to be held every Friday evening.

Interviewers will be Larry Coffman and Bill Born, members of the WBGU sports staff.

The Homecoming game between Bowling Green and Kent State will also be broadcast by the station. Coffman and Born will do the play-by-play description of the game.

Other Homecoming features will feature live interviews with returning alumni and special visitors at the Alumni Open House and will be broadcast direct from the Grand Ballroom of the Union.

I was taken prisoner by the ferocious Man-ou and you must know how inconvenient that can be. You see, I was selling tickets to the Bazaar and I went into this apartment house only it was really a ship and when it landed I was in Africa and there were these natives with spears . . . But come in to segalls and I'll finish telling you about it. Oh, yes, might as well bring in your Dry Cleaning when you come.

BG Meets Flashes At Homecoming; Falcons Bid For Sixth Straight Win

Fresh from their resounding 31-16 win over arch rival Toledo, the BG Falcons face their stiffest test of the season tomorrow when they tangle with the Kent State Flashes in the annual Homecoming game.

The Falcons won over an out-manned but scrappy Rocket eleven and were led by Bob Ramlow who picked up 147 yards in 17 carries. Also outstanding was sophomore Chuck Comer, who gained 33 yards in five carries for an average of 6.6 yards per carry.

Coach Doyt Perry was pleased with his team's performance, both offensively and defensively, except for some bad moments on pass defense. As for Toledo, he commented, "They were as tough as I thought they would be; they tackled hard, and their line was as good as any we have faced so far."

As for Kent, Coach Perry said "They will be the best team we have faced this year," and he also pointed out that they will be the biggest the Falcons have faced, and that they have good depth.

Last week, the Flashes posted a 24-0 win over Marshall at Kent. Their attack was paced by quarterback Dick Mostardo, a 5-11, 174 pound junior from Philadelphia, who scored one touchdown and passed for two more. The stocky youngster also carried the ball 13 times for 126 yards, half the total the Golden Flashes rolled up rushing. He completed eight out of 10 passes for 198 yards. His two touchdown tosses went to Alvia Jackson for 68 yards in the second quarter, and to Dick Mihalus for 49 yards in the third period.

BG came out of the TU game with only one serious injury. Sophomore end Clarence Mason suffered a shoulder separation, while Tom Colaner, Bob Ramlow, Jerry Roberts, and Bob Morrill came out of the contest with the usual assortment of bumps and bruises. Colaner, Ramlow, Roberts, and Morrill saw limited duty in practice this week in order to be ready for tomorrow.

The Golden Flashes have posted four wins in five games, with a 35-0 loss to Miami being the only blemish on their record. Kent has beaten Xavier and Baldwin Wallace in non-conference games, and has posted conference wins over Ohio University and Marshall.

Coach Trevor Rees's crew is young and aggressive, although they lack experience. The KSU roster has only nine seniors, and the mixture of these veterans with numerous sophomores and juniors has formed a very fine football club that must be reckoned with this year, and for seasons to come.

The series between the two clubs dates back to 1920, when BG won the series opener 7-0. Over-all the Falcons hold a 13-8 advantage with 5 ties. The last time Kent won was in 1954, when they posted a 28-25 win here at Bowling Green, and in 1955 the clubs fought to a 6-6 tie. In the past two seasons the Falcons have won 17-0, and 13-7.

WM, ND Battle Falcon Harriers

The Falcon harriers will vie for cross country honors with four other teams this afternoon at Notre Dame University. Western Michigan and host Notre Dame are expected to battle for first and second places, with Bowling Green a good bet for third. Central Michigan and Loyola of Chicago are the other teams competing. The University of Michigan will also be present but will not figure in the final outcome.

Last year Notre Dame captured the meet while the Falcons were runner-up. Central Michigan and Loyola finished third and fourth, respectively. Notre Dame, however, lost several of its top performers from last year's National Championship team, and Western Michigan, who placed sixth last year in the Nationals, has an even stronger team this year.

By mutual consent, both BG and WM decided that today's meet would count as their official MAC contest.

Redskins, Falcons Lead MAC; BG's Colburn Tops In Passing

Miami and Bowling Green remain on top in the Mid-American Conference following their victories last week. The Redskins are 3-0 and the Falcons 2-0 in the conference.

Kent State took over undisputed possession of third place with a 2-1 record. Marshall, Ohio University, and Western Michigan are tied for fourth in the MAC with 1-2 records. Toledo is in the cellar with a record of 0-3.

Bowling Green is the conference leader in offense with an average of 475.5 yards per game. Miami is second with a per-game average of 366 yards. Holding down third offensively with an average of 313.3 yards per game is Marshall.

Kent State's Golden Flashes occupy the fourth spot offensively, with an average yardage of 273.7 in conference play. Toledo, with an average of 261 yards gained per game, are presently the fifth best offensive unit in the conference. Western Michigan currently holds a lead over Ohio University of some seventy yards, for the sixth spot.

Defensively, the Redskins of Miami lead the conference. Miami has allowed an average of only 189 yards a game to their conference opponents thus far this season. Second is Bowling Green, with an average of 197 yards allowed. Ohio University is in third place defensively, followed by Kent State, Toledo, Marshall, and Western Michigan.

Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan remains the top ground gainer in the MAC with 310 yards gained in 50 carries for an average of 6.2 yards per carry. Hal Williams of Miami is second with 281 yards in 39 trips for a 7.2 average. The Falcons have Bob Ramlow, averaging 7.9 yards in 29 carries for 230 yards, in the third spot.

Bowling Green's Bob Colburn leads the individual passing with 18 completions in 30 attempts for 284 yards. Jerry Stoltz, of the Toledo Rockets is close behind with 259 yards on 15 completions in 30 attempts. In the third position is Kent State's Dick Mostardo with 10 of 18 attempts for 207 yards.

Toledo has the top two conference receivers in Frank Haladik and Jack Campbell. Haladik is tops with 11 receptions for 156 yards and Campbell has garnered 147 yards on nine catches. Bowling Green is well represented in the top ten pass receivers, with Bernie Casey fourth, Jerry Roberts seventh, and Tom Colaner, eighth.

Western Michigan's Coleman leads in scoring with 38 points. Ramlow has 24 points in two conference games for the Falcons, good for second place. Dave Gilbert and John Moore of Miami are in the third and fourth spots with 19 and 18 points respectively. Chuck Comer of Bowling Green is fifth with 14 points.

The Falcons are one of the 58 remaining undefeated, untied, teams in the nation.

Ramlow Is Gridders' Leader In Groundgaining, Total TD's

By WALT JOHNS

Students, faculty, and alumni will see one of the top running backs in Ohio tomorrow when Bowling Green entertains the Kent State Golden Flashes.

Bob Ramlow, a soft spoken, intelligent young man is the Falcon's leading groundgainer this year. The 22-year-old senior, who weighs 175 pounds and stands 5-9, is enjoying the best season of his career. He has gained 525 net yards and trails Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan for the league lead in this department. As the workhorse of Coach Perry's Flying Falcons, Bob has carried the ball 75 times and has an average of seven yards per carry.

Last year, Ramlow gained 592 yards, scored two touchdowns, and was picked for the All-MAC team. Two years ago, in his sophomore year, he ground out 113 yards and scored two TD's.

Last week, against Toledo, Bob had the best day since coming to Bowling Green, netting 147 yards. Against Lockbourne Air Force Base earlier this year, he scampered 78 yards for his longest run.

Besides leading the club in rushing, Ramlow also leads in scoring with six touchdowns. In pass receiving, Bob has caught five passes good for 66 yards and one TD.

Bob is also a standout in track and in the classroom. When track season rolls around, he will shed his football togs and compete in the pole vault and broad jump events for the varsity track team.

Enrolled in the College of Education, he is planning on a coaching career and then possibly an administrative job.

Bob points out that his greatest thrill here at BG was last year in the Delaware game. "Don Nehlen threw me a pass that covered 60 yards and was enough to beat them," he said.

The popular Ramlow, who attended Cleveland John Marshall High School and won honors there as one of the top backs in the city, is highly praised by head coach Doyt Perry. "Ramlow is a very fine halfback, in fact, one of the best in the MAC. He is a hard worker, a fine boy, and an excellent athlete. He is better now than he ever was and keeps improving," Perry said.

Yes, Bob Ramlow, the intelligent, popular, outstanding athlete, had made a name for himself at Bowling Green.
